

High Level Meeting

Economic crisis and healthcare – ensuring access to public health services
The case of hepatitis B and C

3-4 June 2014 Athens Greece

The Hepatitis Public Policy Association aims to urge and facilitate the formulation of public policies at national and international level for the communication, prevention and management of the spread of viral Hepatitis B and C.

The Association's unique approach in furtherance of this aim is to gather together, and work in partnership with, the major stakeholders in the field of these diseases including regulators, patients, clinicians, public health and civil society communities and the private sector.

The Association's activities are aligned with the broad programs of the major international public health institutions, including the World Health Organisation and the European Commission's DG Health and Consumers (DG SANCO).

More information about the aims, activities, membership and organization of the Hepatitis B and C Public Policy Association can be found on its website www.hepbcpa.org
